

Building Connections, self-advocacy & workplace readiness

Group Program

A group designed to support adolescents to build connections, develop collaborative skills and advocate for themselves. There will also be a focus on preparing for the workplace or making the transition from school to employment.

The specific aims of this program are:

- Opportunities to develop connections with others.
- To develop the skills for self-advocacy, to support opportunities for community participation, learning and employment.
- To develop interview skills and the confidence to express work ready strengths in affirming ways.

We believe in affirming practices and creating a supportive and inclusive environment where all members can thrive. Participants will be placed in groups with similar aged peers, to encourage confidence and participation.

Our speech pathologists are here to facilitate discussions and offer opportunities to develop skills to help each group member reach their full potential. Register by calling or emailing our Client Care Services team now to reserve your child's spot!
