

Building Connections and self-advocacy for Secondary Students Holiday Program

A secondary student group designed to support adolescents to build connections, develop collaborative skills and advocate for themselves.

The specific aims of this program are:

- To promote functional collaborative skills.
- Opportunities to develop connections with others.
- To develop the skills for self-advocacy, to support opportunities for community participation and learning.

We believe in affirming practices and creating a supportive and inclusive environment where all members can thrive. Participants will be placed in groups with similar aged peers, to encourage confidence and participation.

Our speech pathologists are here to facilitate discussions and offer opportunities to develop skills to help each group member reach their full potential.
